

Civil War Roundtable of Kansas City
Glasgow Missouri 2018 Tour

Saturday, May 12, 2018

Visit Glasgow, Missouri, site of a Civil War battle in 1864 when Confederate troops bombarded the Union forces holding the town. The Union force was outnumbered and eventually forced to surrender. The Confederate were commanded by Brigadier General John Bullock Clark while the Union forces were under the command of Colonel Chester Harding. Included on the tour as time permits:

*1st Street (current business district, oldest drug store in US, site of civil war wharf)
World's first all-steel railroad bridge
Turner's Hill – site of cannon fire into town
Hereford House – now St. Mary's rectory and the end of the battle
Dunhaven – home of banker Danica
Washington Cemetery – burial site of the Stienmetz brothers
Lewis Library – oldest library west of the Mississippi
Randolph Street – historic homes of founders and campsite of Union troops
Lewis Cemetery – burial site of Benjamin Lewis*

Tour Guide: J.Y. Miller

Departure: 8:30 a.m. sharp from Johnson County Community College (southeast parking lot)

Return: Approximately 5:00 p.m.

Cost of Tour: $45 includes lunch (non-refundable)

$10 for lunch only (for those not on the bus)

Make your reservation now by sending a check to Susan Keipp. Bus limited to 40 participants.

Questions: Gary Nevius at gnevius@dlrgroup.com