Pat Gradwohl recognized by Freedom's Frontier NHS as the Outstanding Volunteer of the Civil War Round Table of Western Missouri

Pat joined the Civil War Round Table of Western Missouri in 2004 after taking a continuing education course in Liberty, Missouri given by Tim Cox. She immediately offered to set up a tour of antebellum houses in Liberty for our members to enjoy. Her second tour was of William Jewell College in Liberty.

About 10 years ago Pat suggested that the Round Table organize a tour of antebellum homes in Independence and offered her help as well as signage and expertise from the Clay County Historical Society.

In the meantime, she had become 1st Vice President and Program Chairman for the Round Table. Even during COVID she managed to provide interesting speakers via Zoom. When we were finally able to meet in person this past summer, she set up a program and tour at the James Farm in Clay County.

Even into her 90's Pat continues to be a lifelong learner and shares liberally with the Round Table.

When the Round Table meets in person on April 13, 2022, we will be presenting Pat with the following "Outstanding Volunteer Award":

In grateful appreciation for your outstanding service and dedication. Your time and efforts made a world of difference.
Signed by Jim Ogle, Executive Director of Freedom's Frontier and Mike Calvert, President of the Civil War Round Table of Western Missouri.

Margaret Bardgett passed away on December 14, 2021. She was a good friend of Sonny and Karen Wells and active with the Westport Historical Society.

Orven Schanzer passed away on January 5, 2022 in Los Angeles where he retired from the movie business. Orven grew up in Kansas City and along with his niece, Lisa Gilman, would return about once a year to pursue the history of a different community in the Kansas City area. Orven made many friends among history groups and will be missed.

Dick Hughes, the husband of Barbara Hughes (American History Women), passed away on December 5, 2022. His memorial service will be held on Saturday, April 2, 2022, at 1:00 p.m. at the Walnut Gardens Community of Christ church, 19201 E. R.D. Mize Road, Independence, MO. Visitation to follow.

On the bright side, we are happy to announce that several history groups have hired energetic young leaders. Johnathon Hart has been appointed Executive Director of the Black Jack Battlefield and Nature Park in Kansas. The Jackson County Historical Society is pleased to welcome Chris Stout as its new Executive Director. Chris was a founder of the Veterans Community Project which built "Tiny Houses" for veterans at 89th and Troost in Kansas City. He looks forward to promoting Jackson County history alongside staff, donors and volunteers.

Our president, Mike Calvert, is serving on the Heritage Commission for the City of Independence, MO which is now under the Tourism Board.
